

Save the Date

New Jersey Watershed Steward

Who: Citizens of New Jersey that want to make a difference in their watersheds... that means you!

What: New Jersey Watershed Stewards training workshop

Where: Rutgers EcoComplex, 1200 Florence Columbus Road, Bordentown, New Jersey 08505

When: Monday, March 8, 2010

Time: 9:00am to 4:00pm

Fee: $25

Registration: <http://water.rutgers.edu>

What is the New Jersey Watershed Stewards program?

The New Jersey Watershed Stewards program is an educational extension program developed by the Rutgers Cooperative Extension Water Resources Program that empowers citizens of New Jersey to take action to be part of the solution to the watershed problems throughout the State. To obtain the title of "New Jersey Watershed Steward," participation in a training workshop and a watershed-based apprenticeship project are required. At the training workshop, experts from Rutgers Cooperative Extension will go over the basics of watersheds: what they are, how they are affected, and approaches to take care of them. During the training workshop, the apprenticeship projects will be described and you will have the opportunity to sign up for a project that interests you. All are welcome and previous environmental experience is not required. Registration for the New Jersey Watershed Stewards program will be available online at <http://water.rutgers.edu>. We look forward to meeting you on March 8th!

RUTGERS

New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station

Applying knowledge to improve water quality

Northeast States &
Caribbean Islands
Regional Water Center

A Partnership of USDA NIFA
& Land Grant Colleges and Universities

Cooperating Agencies: Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and County Boards of Chosen Freeholders. Rutgers Cooperative Extension, a unit of the Rutgers New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, is an equal opportunity program provider and employer.